Summary:

On July 8, at approximately 0819 hours, Carlsbad Police received several 911 calls in reference to a male yelling threats in the area of the 2700 block of La Golondrina St., in south Carlsbad.

The first units on scene identified the subject's residence and overheard the subject threaten to shoot another person, while continuing to yell and shout profanities. While the police were on scene, he continually made reference to the use of a weapon, threatened to shoot the officers and refused to exit the premises.

SWAT was notified and responded to the scene, forming a perimeter on the residence. Officers attempted to negotiate the subject out of the house by the use of the telephone, but he refused.

At approximately 1010 hours, the subject exited the rear of his residence and was taken into custody without incident. Officers cleared the residence and discovered that the subject had been in the home alone.

The subject was taken into custody for evaluation and several weapons were confiscated.
